

REGULATIONS
of the art cycle of the International Youth Festival
THE PLANET OF ART - 2024
(Almaty, Kazakhstan)

In 2024 the art cycle of the International Youth Festival THE PLANET OF ART-2024 is dedicated to the exploring and dissemination of knowledge about UNESCO World Heritage sites, and is held within the framework of the 15th anniversary of the Kazakhstan National Federation of Clubs for UNESCO and Kazakhstan's chairmanship in the World Federation of UNESCO Clubs and Associatians

The history of the project begins in 1999, when, on the initiative of the Director General of UNESCO, a creative drawing competition for children was launched in all member countries of the organization.

This event became the starting point in the development of the Clubs for UNESCO movement in the Republic of Kazakhstan. Today, the International Youth Festival THE PLANET OF ART is an annual key event, in which over the years of its implementation more than 75,000 children and youth have taken part.

Due to the joint efforts of a wide range of partners, all participants, regardless of social conditions and place of residence, have an equal chance to demonstrate their talents and subsequently work with leading specialists absolutely free of charge

As a result of the project, the finalists of the festival are invited to the city of Almaty to undergo an educational and cultural program, get acquainted with the national culture, gain valuable experience in cooperation with leading experts and artists of the Republic of Kazakhstan and also make friends from around the world.

It is worth mentioning that as part of the implementation of the art cycle of the International Youth Festival THE PLANET OF ART - 2024, it is planned to organize a traditional exhibition of the winning artworks at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris (France) in November 2024. This event will open new horizons for project participants, allowing them to present their works to the world community and become part of the global dialogue in the arts.

The theme of the festival in 2024 is UNESCO World Heritage Sites, the artistic expression of their beauty and fragility. The festival is designed to raise awareness of the younger generation about global natural and cultural values, the importance of their preservation and protection.

UNESCO World Heritage Sites are outstanding natural and cultural attractions and their value is universal and worldwide. These objects symbolize the architectural and landscape diversity of the planet and are an integral part of world history. Studying and caring for the World Heritage, accessing the inexhaustible treasury of world culture strengthens the ideals of peace, and creativity helps to express the individuality of everyone and, at the same time, unites a variety of people.

The Kazakhstan Federation, within the framework of its chairmanship in the World Federation of Clubs and Associations for UNESCO, is launching a new cycle of the International Youth Festival THE PLANET OF ART - 2024. This initiative is aimed at expanding the creative potential of youth and supporting the development of the gifted younger generation - the main driving force that will ensure future sustainable development, preservation of the world and its cultural wealth. The festival will allow the younger generation to deepen mutual understanding, intercultural dialogue, and knowledge of the regions and participating countries.
